We organized a workshop at the KinderUni Wien. The workshop hosted children from 7-9 years old and taught the importance of microbes in nature.

Dr. Woebken (3rd from right) gave talks at the Austrian Academy of Sciences (ÖAW) in 2018 & 2019, where she promoted the continued need for basic science research and funding support in the field of microbial ecology.

Dr. Woebken wrote an article in a local Viennese magazine, The Falter, about the importance of microbes in desert soils.
