

Russian Federation

Svetlana N. Dedysh

ISME sponsored prize for the best research article published by the young scientist in the field of microbial ecology.

The ISME funds were employed to announce the prize for the best research article published by the young scientist in the field of microbial ecology. The prize was announced on the website of the Interregional Russian Microbiological Society (left). Ambassador Svetlana Dedysh presented the ISME prize to Konstantin Chekanov (Moscow State University) for the series of articles on diversity and physiological adaptations of carotenogenic microalgae in the White Sea polar region (right).